CONTENTS AND ARRANGEMENT

Scope

This Dictionary Catalog contains, in one alphabetic sequence, author, title, and subject entries for monographs, serials, and analytics as cataloged for the main collection of the National Agricultural Library and for its Bee Culture and Beltsville Branches. Descriptive information, including notes, has been reproduced as it appears in the card catalog. Library call numbers are also given. Tracings, however, have been omitted. In the card catalog, many tracings appear on the backs of cards; in some cases, changes in tracings have been made only on the main entry card. To have included incomplete or incorrect information in the published work would have been more misleading than helpful.

Information cards, such as those describing the history of a corporate body or geographic area, have been reproduced from the card catalog. Also included in the printed volumes are author and subject cross-references.

At the end of the Dictionary Catalog, there appears, in a separate alphabetical arrangement, a list of translations of articles in the Library collection. This file consists of main entry only under author or, if the article has no author, under its title. Translations of articles are not classified. They are identified by a consecutively assigned number shown in call number position.

Policies

The changes in policy and practice made throughout the years of its development are reflected in the Dictionary Catalog. The following basic tools were in use when this catalog was discontinued in December, 1965. They had been modified, interpreted, and supplemented in various ways to meet the changing needs of the Library:

A.L.A. Cataloging Rules for Author and Title Entries. Second Edition, 1949.

Rules for Descriptive Cataloging in the Library of Congress, 1949.

Scheme of Classification for the United States Department of Agriculture Library. Edition 5, 1940.

U. S. National Agricultural Library. Subject Heading List. Preliminary Edition, 1963.

A.L.A. Rules for Filing Catalog Cards, 1942.

Editing

The publisher provided an editorial staff to review the card catalog before publication. Working from guidelines provided by the Library, this staff concentrated on withdrawing obsolete cards from the catalog and checking its filing arrangement.

More than 1,500,000 cards were examined. With limited time to perform such a large task, complete accuracy cannot be assured. Only the most glaring instances of error or illegibility warranted correcting or retyping cards. No attempt could be made to recatalog old entries to bring them in line with current practices.

Filing Arrangement

Catalog Entries

Within any given part of the catalog, the page display of entries will make their arrangement obvious. However, a statement of some of the Library's basic filing practices will facilitate use of the catalog as a whole.

1. General order of entries is:

Author
Periodical title
Periodical title as author
Subject
Title

Single letters, whether abbreviations or initials, file at the beginning of that part of the alphabet.

History cards precede entries of the organization described. "See also" references follow the related entries.

Entries for editions of works are filed with the earliest first.

2. Government entries for departments, bureaus, offices, etc., in the more familiar languages are generally arranged under the jurisdiction by the key word following the preposition. For example:

U. S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics.

U. S. Dept. of Agriculture.

U. S. Bureau of the Census.

U. S. Office of Foreign Agricultural Relations.

Those in the less familiar languages are arranged word by word.

Contents and Arrangement

3. Subdivisions of corporate bodies are also generally filed on this key-word principle. There are known inconsistencies in the catalog, though. Notable examples are entries for bodies whose names begin with the following terms and include a prepositional phrase: Service, College, Commission, Committee, Conference, Institute, and School.

4. Subject entries are subarranged by author. Generally, the filing order is as follows:

Subject without subdivision

Subject with geographic subdivision

Subject with subject subdivision and inverted subject headings interfiled, e.g.,

Milk. Acidity.

Milk. Care and handling.

Milk, Certified.

Milk, Citric acid in.

Milk. Composition.

Subject followed by qualifying term in parentheses.

Translations of Articles

The author's name is listed in the form in which it appears on the translation. Entries are interfiled whether or not forenames are spelled out and whether or not a joint author appears in the heading.

Inquiries

Cataloging and classification questions about the entries in the Dictionary Catalog should be addressed to the Chief, Division of Catalog and Records, National Agricultural Library, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C. 20250.

AVAILABILITY OF REFERENCES CITED

Loans. Most of the material in the National Agricultural Library collection may be borrowed by employees of the Department of Agriculture and by other libraries. In requesting loans, please include the library call number shown at the beginning of the citation. Loan of periodicals is restricted to the Washington, D.C., area. Foreign statistical publications and rare books are loaned only by special arrangement. Requests should be addressed to: Division of Lending, National Agricultural Library, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250, except for publications with call numbers preceded by "B" or "Bee Cul." Request those with "B" from Beltsville Branch, National Agricultural Library, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Plant Industry Station, Beltsville, Maryland 20705; those with "Bee Cul." should be requested from Bee Culture Branch, National Agricultural Library, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Building A, Agricultural Research Center, Beltsville, Maryland 20705.

Free Distribution. Most of the printed publications of the Department of Agriculture and publications issued by the State Experiment Stations and the State Agricultural Extension Services may be obtained free of charge by applying directly to the issuing agency. The National Agricultural Library does not distribute them.

Reproduction. Microfilms or photoprints may be obtained from the Photoduplication Section, National Agricultural Library, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250. Copying charges are:

MICROFILMS: $1.00 for each 30 pages or fraction copied from a single article or book.

PHOTOPRINTS: $1.00 for each 4 pages or fraction copied from a single article or book.

RUSH SERVICE will be furnished upon payment of $1.00 additional for each order.

Payment must accompany the order. Cash, Library coupons, check, or money order drawn to the National Agricultural Library, USDA, are acceptable. Payment for orders originating outside the United States should be made by international money order or draft on an American bank, or by UNESCO book coupons. Superintendent of Documents coupons and requests to furnish photocopy to be paid from Superintendent of Documents deposit funds cannot be honored. Credit may be extended only to government agencies and institutions. Billing address should be indicated.

Library Coupons. Library coupons, valued at $1.00 each, may be purchased in any quantity from the Photoduplication Section, National Agricultural Library, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250.

U.S. Agricultural adjustment administration.
 Pursuant to Executive order 9069, Feb.23, 1942, the name of the Agricultural adjustment administration was changed to the Agricultural adjustment agency by a memorandum dated Feb.26, 1942 from the administrator of the Agricultural conservation and adjustment administration to the assistant administrators.
 For separate publications issued prior to Feb.26, 1942 and continuations in progress, see the above entry. For separate publications issued since Feb.26, 1942 and for new continuations, see U.S. Agricultural adjustment agency.

 On Dec.5, 1942, by Executive order 9280, the Agricultural adjustment agency became a separate administrative unit, without extensive changes in its organization, in the newly created Food production administration.
 Jan.21, 1944, became an independent agency in war food administration.

U.S. Bureau of agricultural and industrial chemistry.

Pursuant to Executive order 9069 and Agricultural research administrator's memorandum no.5, approved by the Secretary of agriculture Feb.13, 1943, and in conformity with Secretary's memoranda 960 and 986, the agricultural engineering divisions and the Effluent contaminants and chemical weed eradication section of the Bureau of agricultural chemistry and engineering were transferred to the Bureau of plant industry, soils and agricultural engineering. The four regional research laboratories and all other divisions and activities of the Bureau of agricultural chemistry and engineering were consolidated into the Bureau of agricultural and industrial chemistry, effective Feb.13, 1943.

For separate publications issued and continuations in progress prior to Feb. 13, 1943, see U.S. Bureau of agricultural chemistry and engineering; for separate publications and new continuations issued since that date, see U.S. Bureau of agricultural and industrial chemistry.
Functions transferred to Agricultural Research Service under Secretary's memorandum 1320, supp.4, of Nov.2, 1953.

U.S. Bureau of agricultural chemistry and engineering

Created by order of the secretary Oct.6,1938, effective July 1,1939, to integrate the agricultural chemical research work formerly carried on by the Bureau of chemistry and soils, and the agricultural engineering research formerly carried on by the Bureau of agricultural engineering. The work relating to soils formerly carried on in the Bureau of chemistry and soils by the Soil survey division, the Soil chemistry and physics research division, and the unit conducting research relative to plant mineral constituents derived from soils, was transferred to the Bureau of plant industry.

See next card

Part of the work of the Bureau of agricultural engineering relating to investigations etc. in connection with crop production on irrigable lands, quality of irrigation water and methods for improving the productivity of irrigated soils, was transferred to the Bureau of plant industry. The work of the Bureau of agricultural engineering relating to experiments etc. in connection with the construction and hydrologic phases of farm irrigation and land drainage, was transferred to the Soil conservation service. cf. p.2, report for 1939.

Pursuant to Secretary's memorandum no.960, dated Dec.13,1941, the Bureau of agricultural chemistry and engineering was placed under the supervision of the administrator of the Agricultural research administration, but retained its individual identity.

Pursuant to Executive order 9069 and Agricultural research administrator's memorandum no.5, approved by the secretary of agriculture Feb.13,1943, and in conformity with Secretary's memoranda 980 and 986, the agricultural engineering divisions and the Effluent contaminants and chemical weed eradication section of the Bureau of agricultural chemistry and engineering were transferred to the Bureau of plant industry, soils, and agricultural engineering. The four regional research laboratories and all other divisions and U.S. Agricultural conservation and adjustment administration. Sugar agency.

As a result of the Department reorganization by the Secretary on Dec. 13, 1941, the Sugar agency, Agricultural adjustment administration, Soil conservation service and Federal crop insurance corporation were grouped under the Agricultural conservation and adjustment agency. Each of the four agencies continues to operate as a separate administrative unit. — cf. Report of the administrator, 1942, p. 26.
For earlier history of the Agency, see history card under U. S. Dept. of agriculture. Sugar division.

On Dec. 5, 1942, by Executive order 9280, the Sugar agency became an administrative unit, without extensive changes in its organization, in the newly created Food distribution administration.
